

How soon this attempt will be made, or in what manner, is not known. It is, however, known that the new

In the excitement in Western Tennessee and Kentucky about the 1st inst., caused by the rebel raid upon Gen are stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel.

J. F. Fracy, of Chicago; Major Holt, of the United States Army; H. Manton and family, of Providence; Wm. Bell, of St. Louis; J. S. Smith, of New Albany, Ind.; and John Cronin, of Syracuse, are among the arrivals at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Hon. F. M. McKee and family, of Boston; H. A. Bruce, of Illinois; Wm. D. Mott, of Astoria; H. A. Wagon, and W. H. Bishop, of Bangor, Me.; G. M. Abell and lady, of Dunkirk; N. E. Potter, of Providence; G. F. Harding, of Chicago; A. A. Starkweather, of Wisconsin; J. Randall, and J. Barnes, of Boston, have arrived at the Astor House.

Ex-Governor Baldwin, of Connecticut, is suffering at New Haven from a severe illness, which excites the apprehensions of friends.

the Broadway Menagerie, near Houston street, comes to grow in favor with the public. Three performances daily are now given in the circus recently added to the building, and the elephants, ponies, mules and monkeys delight the juveniles with their tricks. The monkeys stand on their heads and assume all sorts of absurd but dignified postures at the word of command. The croakers give the human form a twist, and the

The friends and family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from his late residence, No. 23 West Second street, on Wednesday afternoon, at half past two o'clock.

Funeral service Saturday, January 21, JAMES SPUR, youngest son of John W. and Annie Elizabeth Green, aged 1 year and 6 months.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the residence of his parents, No. 706 Washington street, this (Monday) morning, at eleven o'clock.

Funeral service Saturday, January 21, after a long illness, Mrs. MARY GUYTON, wife of James Guyton, in the 45th year of her age.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the residence of his mother, Mrs. Mary Guyton, at 11 o'clock.

The business of a banker is to lend money on adequate security at the market rate of interest. Whenever a banker—from extraneous reasons—declines to lend money on adequate security at the market rate of interest he departs from sound principles, and will lose money by the operation. It is just as ridiculous to deplore the present rise in stocks, and to try to prevent it by illegitimate combinations, as it was in 1857 to try to prevent their fall. The laws of trade will assert their supremacy in spite of the contrivances of individuals.

day a collapse will occur, which will be fatal to most persons who are engaged in business. But, though the men perish and disappear, the national work will remain; the factories, the railways, and the steamers and the improved machinery which have been produced by paper money will not pass out of existence with the collapse of the currency; they will be left behind—as the ruins of the British paper money system were in the case of the South Sea bubble—as a substantial basis for a new hard money system to build upon.